

International Mother Language Day

On International Mother Language Day, February 21, 2024, the Vernacular Voices club of Little Flower Degree College hosted a guest lecture by Mr. Narasimhulu, a writer and an academic. The theme of the day was "Multilingual education is a pillar of intergenerational learning". Mr. Narasimhulu's speech highlighted the importance of mother languages in preserving cultural heritage, expressing emotions, and facilitating effective communication. He emphasized the challenges faced by many languages due to factors such as English dominance and language mixing. He also threw light on various initiatives such as promoting mother tongue education, including government policies, the Tribhasha sutram (learning three languages), and the efforts of organizations like UNESCO. The lecture resonated with the audience, inspiring them to appreciate and preserve their linguistic identity. The program concluded with a vote of thanks and a classical song performance.
